SMALL POINTERS.

For The Home Circle.

1. Any man who does not take time for exercise will probably have to take time to be ill.
2. Body and mind are both gifts, and for the proper use of them our Maker will hold us responsible.
3. Exercise gradually increases the physical powers, which gives more strength to resist sickness.
4. Exercise will do for your body what intellectual training will do for your mind—educate and strengthen it.
5. Plato called a man lame because he exercised the mind while the body was allowed to suffer.
6. A sound body lies in the foundation of all that goes to make life a success. Exercise will help to give it.
7. Exercise will help a young man to lead a chaste life.
8. Varied, light and brisk exercises, next to sleep, will rest the tired brain better than anything else.
9. Metal will rust if not used, and the body will become diseased if not exercised.
10. A man "too busy" to take care of his health is like a workman too busy to sharpen his tools.

It is a marvel that we have not yet succumbed to the London mania, countenanced by the throne itself, for straw plaiting. Classes are formed over there to learn the gentle art of making rush baskets and hats, and fashionable women join them with the same eagerness with which they once hurried to the Browning clubs. Catch-alls, wall pockets, cornucopias, fire screens and flower stands are being turned out by the hundreds in Mayfair, the interesting part of the process being the ease with which it is acquired. One may learn in nine lessons, but proficiency is vouchsafed in twelve.

Eggs maitre d'hotel are made by browning a hard, small, chopped onion in butter, stirring in a tablespoonful of flour, adding a little cream until the sauce becomes smooth. Mix in a little chopped parsley, boil six eggs perfectly hard, quarter them and place in sauce in chafing-dish until thoroughly hot. Serve on hot plate. This will be found to be a delicious breakfast, and is well with either tea, coffee, or chocolate.

A Remedy Against Flies.

"I never used window screens," said a wise housekeeper the other day, "because I have a fancy that they shut out all the air in hot weather, and, besides, they serve to keep the flies in the house equally as well as out."
"But I never see a fly in your house," said her friend. "How do you manage it? For my part I must confess that, screens or no screens, my summer means to me one long battle with the pests."
"My remedy is a very simple one," said the good housekeeper, "and I learned it years ago from my grandmother, when I used to sit and watch her putting bunches of lavender flowers around to keep the flies away. My method is simpler. I buy 5 cents worth of oil of lavender at the drug store and mix it with the same quantity of water. Then I put it in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the rooms wherever flies are apt to congregate, especially in the dining-room, where I sprinkle it plentifully over the table linen. The odor is especially disagreeable to flies, and they will not venture in its neighborhood, though to most people it has a peculiarly fresh and grateful smell."
